The P. W. & Ky.—An Intelligencer reporter yesterday visited the present terminus of the Pittaburgh, Wheeling & Kentucky Railroad, at the ice house immediately above Sweeney's landing, North Wheeling. To this point a locomotive yesterday ventured, the track-laying having been completed that far. A large force of workmen were engaged in laying rails this side of the shops and engine house creted-by the company, but as the track laid to this point is only for the trucks carrying iron and ties, it cannot be regarded as completed further than stated above. During the day a large number of our citizens visited the scene of the track-laying, and watched with much interest the completion of the road that will give Wheeling a competing outlet both East and West. At the shops, the finishing touches are but just being put on the building. THE P. W. & KY .- An INTELLIGENCES

BEAUTIFUL. WEATHER. — Yesterday was one of the most beautiful days we have enjoyed this season, and there has been some lovely weather during the winter. The sun shone as bright as in October, and the atmosphere was just cool enough to be bracing. The fine weather attracted hundreds of ladies to the streets, attracted nuncrees of names to the street, and the city presented a scene of activity not often witnessed these dull times. We trust that we may have many more such days during the remainder of the winter.

the Williamsons in "Struck Oil" will be a highly successful one to the management. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Williamson (ace Miss Maggie Moore) will appear in the Opera House this and to-morrow evenings, supported by an excellent dramaticompany. The drama has recently undergone some changes which may be fairly regarded as improvements, their effect being to impart greater compactness to the plot and greater rapidity to the action. These emendations in matters relating to the structure and movement of the story give rise to incidental amelioration of the general tone of thought throughout the play, the more tender and pathetic accense being brought into stronger prominence, while the comic incidents have been pruned of their too farcical extravagance. The their too farcical extravagance. The actors are more at their ease in consequence of these alterations; so, too, are the audience, and the drama itself gains sensibly in attraction owing to its brisker pace and better sentiment.

First Masque Ball.—The first masque ball of the Memorial Social, which took place at Goetzo's Memorial Hall, corner Market and 23d streets, last night, was a very pleasant affair. There was a large crowd in attendance, yet the best of order was preserved, and all present seemed to enter into the spirit of the occasion with a zest that betokened their hearty enjoyment. The costumes worn by the gay masquers were, many of them, quite elaborate, and the display, taken as a whole, was acreditable one. Some of the specimens were so suggestive of fun that they excited merriment in whatever direction the wearers went. The success of the tion the wearers went. The success of bill is due, in a great measure, to the efforts of the Committee of Arrangements, which consisted of Measrs. Wm. Schambra, A. Blum, C. Goelze, J. Smith, Wm. Leo, Wm. Stoetzer, Fred. called for several were made on points which would not be intelligible to the general reader and are therefore of no general interest. They referred to the methods of digging and filling coal and the difference in the amount of earnings by the miners under each plan. The opinion expressed by the different speakers was that notwithstanding all of the bank owners, with the exception of Mesars. Kimberly & Co., were paying fifty cents a wagon, the price for which the men had struck, a combined effort was being made by them to reduce the pay of the miners to the old price, 40 cents per wagon, and that such a proposition would probably be made by Monday evening.

An inquiry was made as to whether any of the miners from Kimberly & Co.'s bank were present, and one answered that

An inquiry was made as to whether any of the miners from Kimberly & Co.'s bank were present, and one answered that he worked there. On being asked whist wages Kimberly & Co. were actually paying, he said that he really didn't know what the price was. Another miner asked about the meeting purporting to have been held and the resolutions adopted and published in the Ecening Standard of yesterday. The party interrogated anywered that Mr. Kimberly came into the bank with the resolutions, but he didn't know who wrote them and didn't know who wrote them.

After discussing the proposition of Kasely & Co. which was 75 cents a hundred bushels for clean coal, and 35 cents for nut coal, it was finally adopted as the sense of the meeting that the miners adhere to the demand for which they struck, to wit, fifty cents per car. They adopted resolutions that if any of the bank owners offered less than that amount per car the men should come out, and that in those banks, the owners of which abided by the fifty cent contract, the miners should continue to work, but if such bank owners of striking banks with coal for their customers their men should at once quit work. A collection was then taken up, during the taking of which Mr. Criswell sang an ode.

The meeting then adjourned to meet in ode.

The meeting then adjourned to meet in same place on Monday evening next at 7 o'clock.
